

My Vision for the World Is...

If you could wave a magic wand, what would you wish and envision for "the Me, the We, and the All"? In the small, center circle, write your future goals and vision for yourself and your life. In the middle circle, do the same for your family, friends, and community. In the largest circle, write your vision for the world.

My Vision for the World Is...

Journal on the following prompts, then keep reminders posted where you will see them daily.

What beliefs will it take to create your future vision?

What words can you speak that will express those beliefs?

What actions must you take to create the life you've imagined?
